Methodology

Fieldwork dates: 3rd September – 6th November 2009

- All MSPs were contacted to ensure that those interviewed closely represent the profile of the Scottish Parliament
- Number of respondents: 73 (SNP 25, Labour 28, Conservative 11, Lib Dem 7 and Others 2)
- Interviews were conducted face-to-face
- The total sample interviewed is closely representative of the Parliament. Data have been individually weighted where necessary to reflect the true balance by party
- Where results do not sum to 100%, this may be due to computer rounding, multiple responses, or the exclusion of “don’t know” categories

Statistical Reliability

- Only a sample of the 'population' has been interviewed so we cannot be certain that the figures obtained are exactly those we would have found, had all Members been interviewed (the 'true' values)
- For any percentage given, however, we can estimate 'confidence intervals' within which the true values are likely to fall. For example, if the survey shows that 50% of MSPs believe that 'prospects for the economy in Scotland will improve over the next twelve months' (which 73 MSPs were asked), we can be 95% sure that the 'true' value would be between 43% and 57%, i.e a margin of 7% on each side
- Similar margins for other percentages and sub-groups of the respondents are given in the following table. It should be remembered that, in any case, the 'true' finding is more likely to be towards the centre of the possible range of error than towards the margins
- For similar reasons, apparent differences in results relating to sub groups may, if small, not necessarily reflect genuine attitudinal differences. We can be 95% sure that differences exceeding those in the second table are genuine, or 'significant' differences

95% Confidence Intervals

Sample size	10% or 90%	20% or 80%	30% or 70%	40% or 60%	50%
	±	±	±	±	±
(All MSPs - 73)	4.6	6.1	7.0	7.5	7.6
(All Government - 25)	8.3	11.1	12.7	13.6	13.8
(All Opposition - 48)	5.6	7.4	8.5	9.1	9.3

Statistical Reliability

Margins (%) which are just significant (at 95%) - approximate percentage to which margin relates
